

Privacy Policy

Gorge Networks will not sell, trade, rent or release your personal information (name, email address, postal address, telephone, etc.) to others without your consent, unless ordered by subpoena in a court of law.

We respect and work to protect your privacy. We do not collect, monitor, sell, or otherwise distribute any information related to your browsing history. If you have any questions about this privacy statement, the practices of this site, or your dealings with Gorge Networks you may contact us.

This site contains links to other sites, Gorge Networks is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such web sites.

In response to the recent decision by Congress to repeal the Broadband Privacy Policy:

We do not agree with the decision Congress made today (3/28/17) repealing the Broadband Privacy Policy. As you are aware – there is a new philosophy in the new administration and this is one of many changes that you will see regarding the use of the internet. The impact of this decision on you will depend on which ISP you use, and the specific policy and values they have regarding this issue. Gorge Networks does not collect any information regarding your internet browsing activity nor do we plan to in the future. It is against our values to collect, sell or otherwise use or distribute information regarding our customer's browsing activity.

For more information on the recent decision made by Congress, go here:

<http://money.cnn.com/2017/03/28/technology/house-internet-privacy-repeal/index.html>

Electronic Frontier Foundation – Position on Privacy:

<https://www.eff.org/deeplinks/2017/03/small-isps-oppose-congress-move-abolish-privacy-protections>

To see who voted to repeal the privacy policy, go here:

<http://clerk.house.gov/evs/2017/roll202.xml>